A Glorious Victory over Corruption and Fraud!

FRESIDENT CLEVELAND!

We have delayed the publication of the INTELLIGENCER until this (Thursday) afternoon, in order to announce to our readers the result of the Presidential election, and now that enough has been heard to settle the contest we are enabled to bring the tidings of a victory which has in it many surprises as to the States which make it up, though the general result was anticipated with confidence by us. At the hour of going to press we are enabled from dispatches received to announce that the States of New Jersey, Indiana, Connecticut aud New York have gone Democratic, and with them also the solid South, giving Cleveland two hundred and nineteen votes certain, or eighteen votes more than necessary to elect him. The Democrata are also confidently claiming Wisconsin, Michigan and Nevada, which would give 21 votes more. They also claim Illinois, California and New Hampshire, where the vote is close. This would give thirty additional votes.

We may sum up that Cleveland has 219 votes certain, 240 probable, and 270 possible. He is, therefore, undoubtedly elected, and will, if he lives to see the fourth of next March, undoubtedly be our next President. The victory is sweeping and complete.

The Democracy have done better everywhere than was expected, except in Virginia, New York and Ohio. Virginis and New York were in doubt during Wednesday, but came out all right on Thursday, the majority in New York, however, being reported as less than two thousand. Ohio went Republican by an increased majority. Massachusetts is close, and it is thought Blaine will carry the State by less than 5,000 majority. Blaine's majority in the State of New York, down to the Harlem River, was about sixty thousand, but the cities of New York and Brooklyn and the Counties in which they are situated, gave Cleve-land over sixty thousand majority, thus gross arrested at Parksville had all been in which they are situated, gave Clevewiping out Blaine's vote and putting Shot. The conductor of the Augusta and Knoxville Rail oad train reaching Augusta at 12 o'clock says this is not so. Cleveland ahead.

It has been a contest against enormous odds, and the victory is rendered all the more valuable in consequence. thereof. It proves that virtue has not left the American people, and that they value official integrity above party ties or brilliagt attaloments. It argues well for the permanence of our free institutions and guarantees a return to pure government. The rascals have been turned out and the country is safe.

CLAYTON, GA., October 29 .- Last night was enacted a tragedy that will be long remembered in this place. Mr. E. W. Beck, while under the influence of whisky, shot his wife through the brain and his sister-in law, Miss Addie Bailie, through the chest, the ball entering between the 8th and 9th ribs, behind on the left side, and lodging just beneath the skin to the right of the sternum in front, resulting in the instant death of the former and fatally wounding the latter. No cause is assigned except drunkenness, as they all appeared to be living amicably. Miss Bailie's home is in Cumming, Ga., ored also to get a company of men to go and she was here on a visit to her sister. red also to guite to their assistance.

Governor Thompson received a dispatch yesterday from Mr. Bethea, of the sheriff, and was put in jail. The killing occurred about 9½ o'clock. Dr. Smith has taken charge of Miss Bailie, and was working with all his medical skill to save the unfortunate young lady. Captain Couch, of the Atlanta police department, was in Clayton, Rabun county, the day after Eugene Beck murdered his wife and gave his sister in-law mortal wound. Clayton is a small town, and, although situated in the mountains, once famous as a rendezvous for illicit distilleries, its citizens have always been noted for their love of law, order and peace. _he town is an old one, but never since the first house went up, has it had a sensation so great as the killing of Tuesday night, and never again in all probability will the good people be called upon to witness such an awful tragedy. The special telegram printed in yesterday's Constitution gave but a meager account of the double murder, but Captain Couch adds enough to it to make the story complete. Beck, the man who has imbued his hands in the blood of those nearest and dearest to him is a man well known in ffair is still at large, and is supposed to Rabun county, while his wife was the daughter of a successful physician and prominent citizen of Foreyth county. Beck soon made himself a prominent citizen. His business relations with the world were pleasant, while his home was all that could be desired But when yet a young man he began drinking, and as time went by that habit grew upon him until he became little better than a drunkard. His business of course suffered, but never did he forge the peerless treasure he had in his wife until Wednesday morning. HOW THE SHOTTING OCCURRED. Beck's home was located near the limit of the town, but in the county jail he had a room—a kind of business office. For some weeks previous to the killing Beck had been on a spree. He drank hard hard been on a spree. He drank hard and recklessly, and his wife, who had tried time and time again to reform him, was so saddened by the spree that she sent for her sister, Miss Hadie Bailie, to come to her. The sister went and their meeting was a touching one. Beck reher presence had no effect on him. Tuesday he drank harder than ever, and late that night sought his home. He found his wife in bed, and without s word of warning, drew his pistol and shot her through the head, killing her instantly. The ball entered the head in the back near the neck and passing en tirely through, came out on the forehead.

When the fatal shot was fired Mrs. Beck was in the act of rising to greet her husband, but she was unconscious of her ching doom, and so quick was he death that she probably never knew that her husband was her murderer. Miss Bailie was attracted by the shot, but as she started through the door leading into the room where her sister was dying, the husband directed the pistol toward her and fired. As he drew the trigger the young lady wheeled to retreat, but she was too late, and the ball ploughed its way through her chest, entering on the left side behind, between the seventh and eighth ribs and passing to the front. No one was near to prevent the deed, and when the second shot was fired Beck quietly walked from his house to his room in the jail where he locked himself in. The sad news flew fast and before the body of the murdered wife was cold search was being made for Beck. He was found in his room in jail, but refused to open the door, and when the door was finally forced those who entered saw him standing in the middle of the floor with the muzzle of a cocked pistol against his right temple. The tableau was a frightful one, but just as his finger began to press the trigger some one sprang forward and knocked the pistol from the murderer and would be suicide's band. He was then secured and placed in jail. The wildest excitement followed the killing. A messenger was cent to Cumming, Forsyth county, to bear the sad intelligence to Dr. Baille, the father of Beck's two victims, and then while the wounded lady was being cared for gentle hands prepared the dead sister for burial. The murdered wife was a most estimable lady.

While Miss Ballie is as beautiful and accomplished as her sister was when she married Beck, Miss Bailie is only about nineteen years of age. She will about nineteen years of age. She will probably die. The people of Clayton account for the tragedy only in Beck's apree. He does not seem to realize his awful crime and when questioned about the shocting says he thought he was shooting dogs.

EX-GOVERNOR MOSES. A Drunken Husband Kills His Wife and Particulars of His Recent Attempt to Commit Suicide.

Detroit Free Press, October 31 DETROIT, October 30 .- Franklin J. Moses, Republican Governor of South Carolina in the days of good stealing, who is in jail here for swindling a number of ciergymen by representing him-self as the Rev. Dr. W. W. Hicks, of self as the Rev. Dr. Washington, tried to hang himself in his cell to day. Moses was afterwards brought into the police court, charged with swindling. He pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to three months in the House of Correction. His lawyer hopes to effect his transfer to an insane asylum. Ex-Gov. Franklin J. Moses, of Carolina, charged with stealing $15 from Rev. E. L. Rexford, D. D., pastor of the Universalist Church, by obtaining that amount from him by falsely representing himself as Rev. Dr. Hicks of Washing-ton, spiritual adviser of Guiteau, the assassin of President Garfield, made an attempt about 5 o'clock yesterday morn-ing to hang himself in his cell in the County Jail. The prisoner made a rope from two handkerchiefs, which he placed around his neck and tied one end to his cell door, in Ward No. 4. He then kicked a stool on which he stood from under his feet, and was struggling when the noise was heard by a prisoner who occupied an adjoining cell. The inmates of this ward are not locked up in their cells at night. This saved the ex Governor's life. The prisoner who heard the noise arose and going into the corridor found Moses hanging. His fore had turned black, and in a minute or two more he would have been strangulated. which were allowed in the ward for hair trimming purposes to cut the would be suicide down, and laid him on his bed. where he was revived through the exertions of other prisoners, who had been awakened by a cry of alarm. Moses eyed the reverend gentleman whom he had swindled, but did not speak to him. At 2.15 o'clock Justice Miner called the case of "John F. May," when his attorney, George X. M. Collier arose and asked that it be continued un til the mental condition of his client could be established. He said that since the last adjournment of the case he had made diligent efforts to get witnesses here in his behalf, but had failed. He corresponded with a number of persons in the Southern States, who were acquaintances of the prisoner, and received everal answers; but on account of the election excitement they could not come here until after the close of the campaign. Among the letters received was one from the Secretary of the Navy, who wrote that the son of the prisoner is in the Naval Department in California. It was certain that he could not come to help his father out. Justice Miner replied that the case had already been continued an unusual length of time, and he could not see how the prisoner could be benefited by another adjournment. There is no positive assurance that witnesses in his behalf would be present at a future time. If a continuance was granted it could only be done until November 5, as the case will then have been in court for a month, and under the law it must be disposed of in that time-otherwise the court would have no jurisdiction.

Mr. Collier said that he was authorized by his client to say that if he does not furnish any evidence at the time the case is adjourned to be will withdraw his plea of not guilty and plead guilty. The attorney agreed that if the court was disinclined to grant another adjournment it would be useless to proceed to trial, as the facts in the case were well

The court said that he had been very indulgent in the matter of continuing the case, both to the complainant and the defendant. The business of the court demanded that it be disrosed of within the time prescribed by law

Mr. Collier said in answer to this that an adjournment of two or three days would be of no benefit to him.

Justice Miner-"What do you intend to show for your client?'
Mr. Collier—"I desire to prove by medical testimony that my client is en-tirely irresponsible for his acts. He has been traveling from place to place engaged in the business he is charged with here. I don't know anything about him except what he has personally told me and what I have seen in the papers." The Court-"I have no judicial knowledge of the case."

Mr. Collier consulted Moses and then announced that he would withdraw his pies of not guilty and enter one of guilty. The attorney asked the court whother he would defer passing sentence. Justice Miner said he could not do this, and then addressing the prisoner asked him if he desired to withdraw his plea. "I do," replied Moses. "Have you anything to say for yourself? "I desire to say so much that I do not wish to trespass on the time of the court in my case." "You have the whole afternoon before you. I will listen patiently to what you say."

Moses again said that he did not wish to go to trial and the court then sentenced him to imprisonment in the House of Correction for ninety days without the alternative of a fine Mr. Collier asked that the prisoner be allowed to remain in jail until Monday before being taken to prison, which the Court granted.

Moses was then taken back to jail and confined in the fourth ward. He was visited by a patrolman who had known him in South Carolina while he was Governor and pleasantly chatted with him for a few minutes, recalling incidents of the time whon he was in power.

One hundred and fittyfive negroes thus parted with their elective franchise, for not one of them can vote to-morrow. Old John Robinson has rendered valuable service to the County in getting rid of these votes.
